Newsletter

Dear Parents, Carers and Children,

With three classes holding outcomes this week, I don't think there can be many of you that haven't been in to school and as always it was great to see such a good turn-out. For those of you that have work constraints or other circumstances preventing you from getting here in the school day be sure to ask children to bring home some of the work that was shared or check out the website for a flavour of the afternoons. I am looking forward to this afternoon (Friday) as I know Miss Shaw has a few interactive elements planned with some technological wizardry and there is still Kynance to come on Wednesday next week. Thank you all for the support you show for these events, giving the children a real audience to appreciate the efforts of their work. Thank you also to the children for the hard work they have given to produce such wonderful displays and thank you to staff for going the extra miles to put it all together on top of all their other workload.

Godrevy took a break from their travels into the past yesterday and instead travelled to Wadebridge to find out how food is produced; taking part in a wide range of activities from cow milking and cheese making to pasta crimping. The latter activity will link well to their learning next term when they explore the rich heritage of Cornwall's mines.

Kynance had another real life superhero join them on Monday in the form of Josh and Jenson's mum in her full police regalia before travelling to Hayle to meet members of the fire brigade there. As said you will be able to see work from all their meetings with superheroes next Wednesday when they conclude the topic with their super festival before they turn their attention to learning about amazing animals next term.

Animals will also feature quite prominently in Poldhu next term and they will hopefully get to take their learning outside even more often as they turn their attention to Under The Sea and Into The Woods. For the first half of the term they will begin with a launch at the maritime museum and then make several visits to Godrevy to explore the marine environment then in the second half term Crenver Grove will provide an excellent setting to learn all about woodland habitats.

Rinsey meanwhile, will be exploring the lands of dreams and finding out about the mysterious beliefs of the Ancient Egyptians. It is an appropriate topic for the class as many of the year 6's will be beginning to dream about what their future holds. For those of them that have dreams of performing on stage they will have a chance to put it in to reality come the end of the term when the school's summer performance takes place. As always it will be a team effort but it is looking like being a memorable one with plenty of music in the mix.

The summer term will provide us with many opportunities to engage with sporting activities and along with Sports Day (date in the newsletter) there will also be School Games Day and many competitive fixtures. This week the whole of Rinsey got to take part in a Rugby festival and on Monday the football team played a fantastic match against Trevithick; securing a draw against the side that is likely to win the league.

The summer term will also give us more opportunities to come together as a community. Not only will there be the production, sports day and the outcome days but I am sure the PTFA will once again provide us with a wonderful summer fayre. They have also come up with a great idea of a community market where you are all invited to share produce in the playground. A letter is coming home today and it would be fantastic to have as much support as possible to give it a good launch. Unfortunately, gardening club are not yet ready to share some of their produce but it won't be too long before they get to run their own stall. Finally, on the note of community we are pleased to announce that the Facebook site has finally gone live. For those that wish to you will now be able to follow us and share some of the memorable moments in and out of school. Please use the site appropriately and remember we cannot publish images of your child until we have permission slips returned. I hope you have all had chance to enjoy some of the sun we have been blessed with this week and fingers crossed that it stays with us for the weekend.

As you are all getting so good at this we have decided to make things more challenging by including problems with 2 digits in them. The rules are still the same you must use all 4 numbers but you can only use each one once.

There is at least 1 solution can you find more?
