Dear Parents, Carers and Children

For any of you that have travelled via Carbis Bay recently you will have noticed that things are stepping as we prepare for the arrival of the world's most powerful people. The G7 summit is certainly going to attract plenty of attention and lots of different bodies are working out ways in which they can air their opinions and raise awareness of issues that they feel strongly about. As you all know we believe that part of our role is to empower children to make a difference and help them change the World for the better hence our motto: "Inspiring Our Future". We are therefore really excited to be involved in several projects both local and national that will hopefully allow us to turn beliefs into actions.

Godrevy class set the example at the beginning of the week when they created signs to be displayed in Crenver Grove that will hopefully encourage people to use the woods responsibly and reduce the amount of litter that has been found there recently. Next week however, it will be both Godrevy and Rinsey and possibly Kynance that try to reach out to a much more important audience by writing one minute speeches for the Y7 Cornwall project (<https://www.y7cornwall.co.uk/>) and possibly also to be used in the Children's Fire project (<https://childrensfire.earth/>). To support them in writing these speeches we are incredibly fortunate to have author Andrew Clover joining us on Thursday next week. He will be working with us all day, delivering assemblies then leading writing workshops before his team film children presenting their messages. He will also be available at lunchtime and at the end of the day to sign books for anyone interested, details will be sent in an email with this newsletter.

Meanwhile in school topic linked learning has shown no reduction in pace and all classes are starting to produce some excellent to be displayed in outcomes. I have seen brilliant animal fact-files in Poldhu linked to their 'Into the Woods' topic. Kynance, inspired by their visit to Pendennis Castle on Tuesday, are preparing to make their own castles with moving draw bridges and Mrs Backhouse has been further developing their maths skills to make their own fairytale kingdoms. More miners have been into Godrevy this time from Geevor Mine as a pre-visit ahead of their trip to the north coast next week. I am sure they were as impressed as I was by the mine inspired art they have produced this week. Finally Rinsey have continued to explore dream worlds with some surrealist art and aboriginal 'dreamtime' inspired poetry. Unfortunately Mrs Haddy couldn't finish the week due to illness but I have managed to use some strange artefacts to intrigue and motivate. I have yet to read the resulting work and we still have our fairy houses waiting to be constructed this afternoon so I will leave you this week and wish you all a pleasant weekend; let's hope the we don't get blown away and the winds we are feeling are the winds of change.

Mr L Gardiner
